

Employment opportunity-

Title: Technical Service, Test, and Integration Engineer

Description: American-based company seeking talented people for installation, maintenance and troubleshooting of leading edge manufacturing equipment in the Printed Electronics industry.

The position could evolve into developing new applications for our state of the art technology or finding new solutions to existing manufacturing methods. Potential hires should be highly intuitive and analytical. Creative problem solving is a must. Domestic and foreign travel is likely.

Language Capability

Strong English required

Chinese and/or Japanese language skills preferred but not required

Reports to: Senior Field Engineer

Location: Seoul, Gumi, China, US

Responsibilities: American company is providing specialized equipment and technology for Korean manufacturing processes. Engineer is responsible for installation, test, optimization, and ongoing performance of manufacturing equipment.

Qualifications: Background in electrical, chemical, or mechanical engineering. 4 year degree minimum, experience in similar field a plus. Knowledge of thermal transport is a plus.

Schedule: Full Time, start immediately

Employee Status: internship

Job Type: Seeking entry level and experienced candidates.

Please send resume and cover letter to korea@nstajobs.com.